Quote: "I love helping in any way I can to battle mental health issues!"
- Sanaa Wadhawan

My name is Sanaa, and I am currently a rising sophomore in high school. I am passionate about contributing to my community and supporting nonprofit organizations in my spare time.

I find great fulfillment in helping others, regardless of the scale of impact. I firmly believe that every act of kindness contributes positively to larger causes.

My strong interest in mental health has motivated me to pursue this opportunity with enthusiasm. I am eager to contribute to the cause of mental health awareness and make a meaningful difference, no matter the scale.

I look forward to working together to support this important cause.
